What: The Romans in Bonn

2000 years ago, people from Italy came to the Rhineland. We call them Romans because they came from the region around the city of Rome, the capital of Italy. The Romans also lived in Bonn. To this day, remains of their houses, buildings and protective walls can be found in Bonn, Cologne and the Rhine Valley.

The Romans loved to decorate their houses. Mosaics were popular. These are pictures made of colorful little clay pieces. We visit the exhibition about the life of the Romans in Bonn. After visiting the exhibition, each child can make his or her own mosaic and take it home.

For children aged 6 - 10 years. We will inform you about the current Corona rules shortly before the event.
